

Puppy (above): The coat is long with the face, throat, feet and base of the tail shaved. A pompon shall be left on the end of the tail. The coat may be shaped to give a neat appearance. The puppy trim is commonly used for dogs under one year of age, but dogs of any age may be presented in the puppy trim.

Continental (above): Face, throat, feet, and base of tail are shaved. Hindquarters are shaved with optional pompons over the hips. There is a pompon on the end of the tail. Legs are shaved leaving bracelets on the rear legs and forelegs. A portion of the foreleg and all the rear leg is shaved above the bracelet. The rest of the body is left in full coat but may be shaped for balance.

German (above): Face, feet, and throat are shaved. The ears may be shaved or scissored short. Tail can be shaved or in short blanket of coat. Coat on the top of the head is scissored into a cap. The rest of the body and legs are trimmed following the outline of the dog. The body coat shall be no longer than 1 inch in length. Leg hair may be slightly longer.

English Saddle (above): The face, throat, feet, forelegs, and base of tail are shaved, leaving bracelets on the forelegs and a pompon on end of the tail. The hindquarters are covered with a short blanket of hair except for a curved shaved area on each flank. Each rear leg is circled by two shaved bands, one just above the stifle and one just above the hock joint. The rest of the body is left in full coat, or shortened, but may be shaped for balance.

Modified Continental (above): The overall trim is shorter than in the traditional continental and is shaped for balance. The topskull may be banded or scissored into a cap, which may or may not be blended into the ears.

Scandinavian (above): Face, feet, throat, and base of tail are shaved. There is a pompon on the end of the tail. The hind end of the dog is scissored in a short blanket of coat. Legs are scissored to accentuate the dog's natural outline. The rest of the body is left in full coat and is shaped for balance.

Modern (above): Like the Sporting except that coat on head, neck, body, and legs can be left longer and shaped.

Sporting (above): Face, feet, throat, and base of tail are shaved. There is a pompon on the end of the tail. Coat on the top of the head is scissored into a cap. The rest of the body and legs are trimmed following the outline of the dog. The body coat shall be no longer than 1 inch in length. Leg hair may be slightly longer.
